

ADVENTURE HOLIDAYS

PRESS RELEASE

A holiday with a strong ethical backbone!

For something that has hatched from a small modest idea to a small modest business in a small town in the Czech Republic has never once waived from its initial purpose. To create a lifestyle based business that can be conveyed to huge amounts of people back in the UK that will raise awareness that there is more to life than the street you live in and the bad influences around it. The hard work and efforts of the founders of Czexcape, husband and army veteran Gary Stewart and his wife Jitka are finally seeing 4 years of hard work come to a close as they prepare for the official opening of their adventure holiday's on the 1st of April 2008.

"In my years in the Army I have witnessed some of the worst, run down parts of the world that have left a clear scar on my heart. From Africa to Afghanistan and Iraq. I for one am whole heartedly aware that there is more to life than most people think and weather you come from a rundown estate in the city or a seemingly forgotten slum in the north a new chapter for your life is only just around the corner. With good subsidized clubs and organizations all over the UK (but never enough!) hobbies such as cycling, trekking, climbing, canoeing etc. can all be done on a budget but public awareness of these places is not strong enough. If we want to make a difference to things like the ever growing crime rate and child obesity these fore mentioned activities and many others can really have an impact."

During our setting up period we have had the pleasure of working with many passionate and helpful people both from the UK and the Czech Republic, we have taken our time and now we can match more exclusive breaks in other countries with holidays that will really capture our customer's imagination and made it affordable for the many not so financially cushioned people in the UK and elsewhere and hope to do some work with various youth groups, as well as families, clubs, universities schools and of course adult groups.

As a company we provide a range of activities that is very extensive, including: water skiing, white water rafting, kayaking, open canoeing, archery, paintball, horse riding, fishing, climbing and abseiling to name but a few. You will be picked up on arrival and get guided through your entire trip. The trips can be done from one location but we will generally be aiming to take our clients around as much of this diverse and interesting country as possible, either camping in our seriously well equipped base camp which is moved daily or in any kind of fixed accommodation you require. Prices are from 275 GBP for a week including 3 days of mixed activities in varied locations. Please contact us for any further information you require and we will respond usually within 24 hrs.
